Changes To Government Courses

In order to make it easier for students to transfer from a community college to a Texas public four-year college or university, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board has adopted a new mandate that changes how the required six semester credit hours of government courses will be taken.

Currently there are two sequences of Government courses: GOVT 2301-2302 and GOVT 2305-2306. Beginning fall semester 2013, only the GOVT 2305-2306 sequence will be offered by Texas community colleges.

Because of this change, students are encouraged to complete the GOVT 2301-2302 sequence by the end of summer II/III 2013. If students can only take one GOVT course during the 2012-2013 academic year, it should be GOVT 2301, since it will work as an acceptable transfer course with any of the other three GOVT courses offered by community colleges throughout Texas.

Unique Program of the Month: Honors Institute

Fall registration for all students starts June 19. Now is the time to start thinking about your schedule and what classes to take.

It's also an opportunity to discover the unique programs at Collin College. Throughout the summer, we will highlight some of these programs for your consideration.

Honors Institute

What is Honors Institute?

Honors classes are fun, uniquely interactive experiences with a different approach to education. Unlike high school honors courses, it is not more work that distinguishes a Collin College Honors course. Honors classes are different because of smaller class sizes that lend themselves to highly interactive, participatory learning experiences. With a student population that tends to be highly motivated and driven, Collin College students report that the atmosphere in the Honors classroom leads them to push themselves further than in other classes, through a mix of mutual encouragement, collaboration and heightened expectations.

"In an honors course, I know that I will be given the tools and motivation to perform the highest level of work I possibly can."

- Cameron Woolley
Honors Student

Requirements

Collin College students who have at least a 3.5 GPA are eligible for the Honors program. First-year students are also eligible if they have a high school grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Benefits

Honors students can enjoy smaller class sizes foster open dialogue and debate among students and professors. Honors notations on your transcript build stronger applications for scholarships and university admissions. Graduating with 12 Honors credits from Collin College guarantees admission to Honors programs at several local universities. Honors classes are great preparation for courses at four-year schools. Access to Honors Computer Lab at Spring Creek Campus

"Taking honors courses also look great on applications for transfer universities and jobs. Students are in classrooms with highly-credentialed professors, who love teaching and being in a classroom full of students who want to tackle problems in creative ways."

- Ryan Rynbrandt
Honors Institute Co-Director

College, UT Dallas, NSF team up

Collin College and The University of Texas at Dallas (UT Dallas) are partners in a $20,000 National Science Foundation grant which provides hands-on research opportunities for Collin College students.

The Faculty Innovation grant is a component of a $2.5 million National Science Foundation grant to increase graduates in the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) fields. The grant includes two principal investigators Dr. Jonathan Lawson, Collin College biology professor, and Dr. Juan Gonzalez, UT Dallas professor of molecular and cell biology.

"This is a unique opportunity for Collin College students to not only be exposed to cutting edge sequencing technologies at UT Dallas but to also engage in the discovery phase of science in class. These students are experiencing the excitement that research provides," Dr. Lawson said.

Surprisingly, bacteria may hold answers to many of our current challenges, such as cleaner energy sources, better renewable materials and efficient pollutant removal. Currently, Dr. Lawson and Dr. Gonzalez are helping Collin College students sequence complete genomes of new environmental bacteria.

Collin College students have the opportunity to perform undergraduate research, sequence new microorganisms and publish their results in national databases. In addition, the research results will be incorporated into the Collin College microbiology curriculum.

"Partnering with Collin College in training their students with the latest cutting edge technology is very logical for us. This program is designed to excite and prepare them to pursue advanced degrees in biology, and we hope that some of these students will come to UT Dallas to continue their studies," Dr. Gonzalez said.

The grant engages science students through applicable research and portfolio enhancement early in their academic careers. Future microbiology students and the scientific community at large will benefit from the results of the research.
