

Real Estate Management

Find your dream career in Real Estate. The buying, selling, leasing, and management of real estate is fundamental to all residential, commercial, and agricultural activity in the United States. Licensed real estate professionals can use their entrepreneurial drive to create a thriving business. Some graduates pursue careers as professional real estate investors. Their knowledge can also be applied in full-time positions within corporations, non-profit organizations, or governmental agencies as in-house real estate experts.

About Collin College's Program

The Real Estate Management Associate of Applied Science degree and Real Estate Salesperson certificate are designed to prepare students for careers as real estate professionals. In as little as one semester, students can acquire the education necessary to obtain a Texas real estate license and begin a new career. Students will have the opportunity to work with highly-qualified faculty with a wide variety of backgrounds in the real estate industry.

Program Features

All courses taken for the Real Estate Salesperson certificate also apply to the Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree. A Real Estate Salesperson certificate qualifies you to take the real estate license exam from the Texas Real Estate Commission to obtain a Sales Agent license. The AAS degree in Real Estate Management from Collin College provides the additional education necessary to obtain a Real Estate Broker license or pursue a bachelor's degree.
